Mozignite

The MozIgnite event which took place on 21st July 2013 was a grand success. The participants even came up with an amazing Firefox Flick. The Reps, speakers, mozillians, student ambassadors and contributors are the ones who made this seminar awesome. The efforts of the flick makers didn't go unnoticed. The theme of the flick was simple but elegant. It entails the problems faced by a traveler who overcomes them by using a Firefox OS mobile. The Flick was shot in 3-4 hours and took another hour to get the expected output. The team gave us the following details regarding their taking of this flick. Daylight, scenery were the most important aspects of the flick.

The team had put in a lot of efforts in shooting the flick to get the output they wanted.

The team mentioned that it was a great experience for them to work on the Firefox flick and that they had a lot of fun while making this flick. They are thankful to Firefox and Vikas Burri (Mozilla Rep) for conducting such a wonderful event where everybody gets a chance to express their creativity in the form of flicks.
